

Breathtaking

Life in Bristol

Tuesday 26th February 2008

The Law Society, Chancery Lane

Millennium Square, Bristol

According to a recent survey, people living in South West England are the happiest. This is likely to confirm the suspicions of many of London's commuters, and could explain why the South West has been benefiting from the inward migration of talented professionals for some time now.

But it is no longer just the lure of a better quality of life that is attracting lawyers to Bristol – FTSE 100 clients, greater opportunities for 'hands on' experience and enhanced career progression opportunities are pulling in exceptional individuals from London and other major regional cities. From corporate and commercial heavyweights to rapidly expanding specialists and smaller boutique firms, Bristol has become a well established centre of legal excellence.

A number of Bristol's law firms including Beachcroft LLP, Bevan Brittan LLP, Bond Pearce LLP, Burges Salmon LLP, Clarke Willmott, CMS Cameron McKenna, Lyons Davidson, Osborne Clarke, TLT and Veale Wasbrough, as well as representatives from the Bristol Law Society and local estate agents, have joined forces to provide you with an opportunity to find out more about living and working in Bristol.

If you are considering a move out of London – either in the near or distant future – we would love to see you on Tuesday 26th February 2008 at the Law Society Hall, 113 Chancery Lane, from 8am to 5pm.

For further details please call Rosie Torre, Bristol Law Society, on 0117 976 3086 or email r.torre@bristollawsociety.com