

Fancy Being in a Reality TV Show?

Legal TV is on the lookout for lawyers to audition for a place on its new "Lawyers Save the World" reality show. The show is to be filmed on 12 October at the luxury Barton Cottage, set in the Four Oaks area of Sutton Coldfield.

Ten lawyers will be chosen to take part and will spend the day "locked away" – without mobile telephones, communication devices or personal possessions - and asked to find a solution to different challenges facing the world today. A video diary room will also be available for anyone wishing to comment on other participants or on the progress being made.

The result of the day's filming will be six half-hour programmes shown on Channel 186, available to more than eight million homes via Sky satellite. Legal TV is also online at www.legaltv.co.uk.

Production Manager Vijay Gulwani said: "Legal TV is seeking lawyers who would like to appear in this new show and not only gain fame but also prove to all that lawyers can really make a positive impact on society."

Anyone wanting to audition is urged to e-mail dsb@legaltv.co.uk or telephone 0121 380 1050 and ask for Dean.
