

Launch of On a Botanical Ramble at the Savoy Hotel
Book written by Andrew and Frances Bolton

On a Botanical Ramble is a book by Frances Bolton, a Barrister at 2 Paper Buildings, Chambers of Sir Desmond de Silva QC. It is co-written with her husband, Andrew Bolton, a Solicitor and Managing Partner at Stephen Fiddler & Co, a central London law firm.

The book will be launched at The Savoy Hotel in the Strand, London, WC2R 0BPa at 6pm on Saturday 3rd of November 2007.

The evening will start with a reception and mini fashion show of Nigerian fashion which will be judged by Bruce Oldfield, Jimmy Choo and probably Patti Boulaye. The reception and fashion show will be in the breezy River Reception rooms between 6.00-7.00pm. This will be followed immediately by a sit down three course dinner with wine in the sumptuous Lancaster ballroom which will be liberally decorated with flowers. A string quartet will play soft classics throughout and a professional choir will sing some great classics. The dress code is black tie or Traditional African Festive Wear. The Launch of the book will then take place and it is expected that there will be a review by Baroness Cox and other notable persons.

On a Botanical Ramble is a love story which manages to combine a potted history of Nigeria, the Nigerian civil war between 1966 and 1970 and some of the complex religious issues in Nigeria.

Tickets are £100 each but BLD registered users may purchase tickets at a specially reduced rate of £50 per ticket for this event in one of London's grandest West End venues. Prior booking is required as seats are pre-allocated and named.
